3 New Colors

Here is good news for every flower lover. Read every word of this folder. It will interest you as nothing else has interested you in years.

Red, Bronze, White—these three glorious new colors in the grandest and most sensational flower of all time. Each plant gets as large as a washtub or larger first year and is literally covered with blooms from late August until frost.

Hardy. All four Azaleamums are hardy perennials—live the winter through.

Be the First

to create this amazing spectacle in your neighborhood. Right in your own garden these flowers will produce loads and loads of gorgeous blooms and cause every passerby to stop in amazed wonder. People who have purchased the pink Azaleamum (introduced in 1933) have this to say:

"I have never spent a dollar which gave me more enjoyment than the one I spent for this Azaleamum."—Mrs. H. L. Arnett, Iowa. "The Azaleamum is exceptionally large—40 inches by 28 inches; stands 18 inches high and measures 8 feet around. Everyone thinks they are wonderful."—W. J. Sheehon, N. Hamp. "It is the most beautiful thing I ever saw. My wife counted the blooms and buds and she counted 653."—R. C. Hoffman, Ohio. "You say 600 flowers, I'll bet there are 1,000 on one single plant."—G. A. Bernard, Ill.

From everywhere come letters telling of delight and extreme satisfaction with Azaleamum, most of them reporting more than 600 flowers per plant. And now, just think, not only can you have Azaleamum in pink, but also in red, white, and bronze. Look inside and see these three beautiful colors.

Isn't the field below an amazing spectacle? This picture shows, better than any other, the natural blooming habit of Azaleamum. Note how each plant is just simply and literally loaded with gorgeous blooms.

You, too, can make an amazing spectacle like this in your own yard or garden. Each plant in this scene has spread 40 or more inches so that each row has become a solid mass of beauty. It will take only a few of these plants to make the most gorgeous flower border you or your friends ever saw. It will truly be a Glorious Sight!
